Shoemaker Motion Picture Company, LLC Donates Projection Equipment to the Indiana State Museum

INDIANAPOLIS June 11, 2010 -- Shoemaker Motion Picture Company, LLC (SMPC) has donated to the Indiana State Museum (ISM) a portion of its vintage projection equipment from its own museum for the public to enjoy.

The SMPC vintage projection equipment has been acquired by various sources over the years and with close negotiations with the ISM, the donation has been made possible for the public to enjoy and to allow the public to be further educated in movie projection equipment from its early years.

About Shoemaker Motion Picture Company, LLC

Shoemaker Motion Picture Company (SMPC) has been in the audio and visual presentation business since 1945. Since then, our product and systems offerings have gone from the basic analog to today's digitally programmable/controlled solutions designed specifically for each application.

Whether it is a small or large room AV presentation, sound reinforcement, CCTV/security, telephony or video conferencing system, SMPC will design, build and install it to your specifications. If you do not have design criteria, SMPC will create and engineer them per your requirements.
